SUBJECT OF THE CONFERENCE

The field of interest of the conference is the economics of innovation. The thematic scope of the conference embraces issues of the innovative policy and the overall impact of different spheres, methods and instruments of the economic policy on the innovative character of the economy on the micro, mezzo and macro levels.

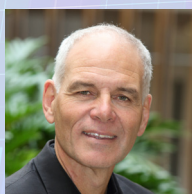

We invite submissions of the papers based on methodological and empirical research. Topics of interest for submission include, but are not limited to:

- the economic theory of innovation, including the approaches presented by various schools of the economy to the determinants, sources, barriers and meaning of innovation,
- innovative, structural and industrial policy on the regional, national and international level, including the innovation in UE: aims, methods, instruments, effectiveness and efficiency,
- the innovative character of firms: start-ups, R&D activity, financing of innovative activity, economic aspects of intellectual property protection,
- the innovative character of the non-governmental organisations, local government units and regions,
- the innovation on the financial markets, fintech,
- the economy based on knowledge and the role of education and transfer of knowledge in supporting the innovation.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS AND SPECIAL GUESTS

Jan Toporowski is Professor of Economics and Finance at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. He is also a Research Associate in the Centre for the History and Methodology of Economics at the University of Amsterdam. His main area of interest is macroeconomic policy, in particular, the financial crises. Professor Toporowski is one of the leading experts on Michal Kalecki thought. Author of numerous papers published in the most renowned scientific journals and of many books, for example, An Intellectual Biography. Volume 1 – Rendez-vous in Cambridge 1899–1939 (2013), Why the World Economy Needs a Financial Crash and other critical essays on Finance and Financial Economics (2010, in Polish 2012).

Robert Faff is Professor of Finance and former Director of Research at the UQ Business School. He has an international reputation in empirical finance research: securing 14 Australian Research Council grants (funding exceeding $4 million); >310 refereed journal publications; career citations >11,000 (Google Scholar); and an h-index of 53 (Google Scholar). His particular passion is nurturing and developing the career trajectories of early career researchers. His latest focus is “Pitching Research”, now gaining great traction domestically and worldwide. During his visit to Poland, Professor Faff will two lectures - one at the conference INNOVATIVE ECONOMY. THE ROLE OF ECONOMIC POLICY and second at the ESRPDW 2018 (Emerging Scholars Research Paper Development Workshop, more about this event <http://esrpdw.wne.uw.edu.pl>)

POSSIBILITIES FOR PUBLICATION

There are two alternative possibilities for publication:
