5TH SCIENTIFIC SYMPOSIUM

ECOSYSTEM SERVICES

IN TRANSDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

September 17-18, 2018 Poznań, Poland

First Circular

Dear Colleagues!

We are pleased to invite you to attend the 5th Scientific Symposium "Ecosystem services in transdisciplinary approach" - ECOSERV 2018.

The Symposium will be focused on European experiences, including the methods, tools, models and implementation of ecosystems services (ES).

ECOSERV 2018 will be an opportunity to present and discuss current international initiatives on ecosystem services approach, such as the European Union Working Group on Mapping and Assessment on Ecosystems and their Services (MAES), the pan-European project ES MERALDA, and Ecosystem Services Partnership (ESP) network.

Prof. Dr Benjamin Burkhard from Leibniz Universität Hannover as the Special Guest will present the progress in methodology and implementation of ecosystem services approach in Europe.

TOPICS

ECOSERV 2018 will address different aspects of mapping and assessment of ecosystem services. Presentations and posters are expected to fit broadly – but not exclusively – into one of the following themes:

- methodology,
- ES mapping and data processing,
- ES valuation,
- urban ES,
- implementation of ES approach.
